MANY WORKERS IDLE IN OHIO

Employment Conditions Shown to Be Unsatisfactory.

WITTER RECEIVES REPORTS

Problems of Placing Ohio's Idle in Employment Greatest in the Larger Cities—Applicants for Work More Numerous This Year Than Last.
Reports of State-City Employment Agencies.

Columbus, July 11.—That employment conditions in Ohio were by far worse during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923, is evidenced in the annual report of the labor statistics division to Herman R. Witter, industrial relations director, under whose supervision the state-city free employment agencies in the Buckeye state's principal cities function.

Applicants for work were more numerous since July 1, 1923, than during the year prior to that date, and placements were fewer, the report states.

Total registrations at the state-city employment offices during the fiscal year just ended amounted to 584,379, as compared with 467,631 persons having asked for work from July 1, 1922, to July 1, 1923. This shows that there were 116,739 more idle workers in Ohio after July 1, a year ago.
Placements in the last fiscal year totaled 220,087 against 257,059 the year previous, indicating that 37,508 fewer persons were supplied with employment during the last 12 months than for the like period dating back from July 1, 1923.

In the farm and dairy classification
2,480 persons were given work since July 1 a year ago. This was an increase from 2,309 in the year preceding that date.

Male applicants for work in Ohio
during the year have numbered 398, 585, exclusive of the farm and dairy workers, of whom there were 2,644, and women asking for work numbered 179,789. The percentage of placements among women proved greater than among men.

From July 1, 1923, until the close of that calendar year there were 264, 221 applicants for work and 118,634 placements. From Jan. 1, 1924, until June 30, there were 314,556 persons seeking employment and 98,973 placements. This tends to show that there has been a decided slump in industrial activity since the first of the year, bearing out the reports that many plants have ceased operation entirely and others proceeding on part-time basis only. This has left 215,583 idle persons in the state over the six-months period, while there were only 145,587 idle in the six months previous.

Problems of placing Ohio's idle in employment have been greatest in Cleveland. Records show that 120, 751 men and 60,135 women applied for work since a year ago, and 34,927 men were given jobs and 27,014 women supplied with work by efforts of the personnel of that branch. An idle list of 120,945 was left, however.

There were 55,407 male applicants in Columbus and 33,103 females, the records disclose, while placements among the males numbered 18,218 and among females 18,865. These figures place Columbus second in the list of unemployed, a job having been found for only one in each three of the male applicants and two for each three female applicants.

Male applicants at Cincinnati totaled 21,320, with 10,634 placements, and female applicants numbered 23,
516, of whom 9,988 were given jobs.
At Youngstown 16,546 men sought work and 7,250 got it, while 18,764 women sought employment and 8,067 were provided with it.

Reports from the Akron employment office indicated it ranked third during the year with the volume of work, 62,200 males having asked for work there and 17,267 women applying also. Placements among males amounted to 15,332 and among women 7,595. Dayton took fourth place, with male applicants numbering 56, 252 and females 14,568. At Dayton jobs were available for 15,279 men and 6,124 women.

In Toledo 44,006 men asked for work and 19,919 were given it, while 8,336 women sought employment with 4,456 successful in obtaining it.

Gompers Seriously Ill

New York, July 11.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American federation of labor, is seriously ill at a Coney Island hotel as the result of a general breakdown, and fears are felt for his recovery.

H. V. STERLING

Chief of Rehabilitation Division of Veterans' Bureau.

Skull Fractured.

Columbus, July 11.—James Considine, 50, freight conductor and for 30 years an employee of the Hocking Valley railroad, was fatally injured when he fell from a freight car to the brick platform at Hooker Station, near Lancaster, and crushed his skull.

Diamonds Missing.

Cleveland, July 11.—Diamonds valued at $2,300 disappeared from a cache in a truck in which her household goods were being moved, a woman reported to police. When the truck arrived at its destination the package was gone.

DAVIS TO STUMP MIDDLE WEST

Democratic Nominee Plans a Vigorous Campaign.

WILL DEVOTE TIME TO OHIO

Democratic National Committee Told
by Davis That All Differences Must Be Buried and the Party United for Concerted Action in the Coming Campaign—Bryan Promises Assistance.

New York, July 11.—John W. Davis, Democratic nominee for president, addressed the members of the Democratic national committee here.

It was a movement to restore party harmony. Davis told the committee members that all differences must be buried immediately, and that the party must be united for concerted action in the coming campaign. The committee acclaimed him enthusiastically for his unprecedented action in making a direct appeal to them in their meeting, which was called for the purpose of reorganization under the new leadership.

The committee followed the desire of Davis and did not select a new chairman, as is the usual custom. Adjournment was taken subject to the call of the present chairman, Cordell Hull. Reorganization will not be undertaken until a decision as to whom Davis desires for the chairmanship has been made.

Frank L. Polk, manager of the pre-convention campaign, has declined to accept the post and Davis does not wish to be placed in the position of attempting to overthrow the present machinery immediately.

Davis himself extended the olive branch to the leaders who had fought him and in his first pronouncement after his nomination called upon the party to unite.

The ascension of C. W. Bryan, brother of William Jennings Bryan, to second place on the national ticket also was planned to close the rift between the Commoner and Davis. Religious differences, which were so bitterly fought out, were hidden behind the veil of the past, and all the unsuccessful candidates gave assurances in varying degrees of co-operation.

Governor Smith, who was not permitted to address the convention as a candidate, but who came before it as governor of New York, after being defeated, was the first to extend his promise of support to his victor.

William J. Bryan also agreed to bury the hatchet. While the new Democratic nominee was receiving newspaper correspondents, the Commoner, who had attacked Davis in the convention, appeared and they shook hands cordially. Davis told Bryan he was counting on him for help, and Bryan replied he was glad to do anything he could.

Davis indicated he contemplates waging a vigorous campaign in Ohio.
He said he probably will make a "sawing around the circle," and will also devote much time to the middle west.

Selection of Governor Bryan for second place was made only after the Democrats had been twice turned down by prospective candidates for the vice presidency. Senator Walsh of Montana, Davis' first choice, in a letter to the convention, formally refused the offer, stating he could best serve his party by running for re-election to the senate. The name of Edwin T. Meredith of Iowa was withdrawn after he had refused to run with Davis on the ground that he was too conservative to appeal to the agricultural west.

As mayor of Lincoln and governor of Nebraska, Bryan forced lower prices in coal, gas, gravel and gasoline—always with the club of municipal or state sale held high over the head of the offenders.

Bryan was born at Salem, Ill., on Feb. 10, 1867. He attended the University of Chicago. He was elected governor of Nebraska in 1922.

DOINGS IN OHIO

Girl Shot by Suitor.

Middletown, O., July 11.—Robert Quigley, 28, of Franklin, shot and probably fatally wounded Miss Gladys Kirby, 17, as she was riding in an automobile driven by Bernard Leonard, to whom she had been accused by Quigley of transferring her affections.
Quigley placed the wounded girl in his own automobile and drove to Franklin, whence the girl was taken to a Hamilton hospital. Quigley is under arrest.

Thorne Promoted.

Columbus, July 11.—Governor Don-ahy announced the promotion of George G. Thorne of Logan, O., who for a year has been executive clerk in the governor's office, to the post of deputy superintendent of insurance to succeed E. L. Savage, who was elevated to the superintendency to succeed Harry L. Conn, recently named associate justice of the state supreme court.

Sick Prisoner Pardoned.

Columbus, July 11.—Upon recommendation of Jefferson county officials, Vincenzo Sisto, who has served almost four years in the penitentiary for the murder of another Italian, was pardoned by Governor Donahy.
Sisto, who is serving a life sentence,
in the last stages of tuberculosis,
physicians say.

Crossing Fatality.

Toledo, July 11.—Thevlon Blake of Sidney was killed and Robert Preston of Sylvania and Herman Crawford of Napoleon seriously injured when a passenger train demolished an automobile at a grade crossing in Sylvania, a village west of this city.

Plane Falls; Three Killed.

Lancaster, O., July 11.—An airplane carrying passengers crashed to the ground here, killing three persons and injuring the pilot, Edward Behmer. The dead: Edward Bowman of Lancaster; Reuben C. Saul and R. E.
Meckman of Reading.

Boy Killed by Truck.

Cleveland, July 11.—Earl Snowden, 12, died from injuries sustained when he was hit by a truck near his home, and Jack Petrach, 26, driver of the truck, is ill from heart shock caused by the accident.

Shot by Farmer.

Cleveland, July 11.—John Gehrou, 19, was shot by a farmer near this city and seriously wounded. He was picking cherries from an orchard when he received the contents of a shotgun.

Loses Life in India.

Middleport, O., July 11.—News has been received of the death in India of Clive Flowers, Middleport boy, in an auto accident. Flowers was in the American navy.

Government Saves Million.

Washington, July 11.—Official figures on the operation of the sinking fund shows that the government saved more than $1,000,000 in buying back its own securities in the year ending June 30. In carrying out provisions of the sinking fund law, the treasury bought back $295,987,360 of liberty bonds and treasury notes, for which it paid $294,727,019. The entire reduction in the public debt, the treasury said, was approximately $1,100,000,000 in the last 12 months.

REAL MOVE SEEN TOWARD PEACE

France and England in Agreement on Experts' Plan.

BRITISH MAKE CONCESSIONS

Premier MacDonald Goes Far Toward Surrendering His Stand That the Experts' Report Goes Beyond the Treaty of Versailles—United States Rejects Draft of Mutual Assistance Treaty.

Paris, July 11.—An agreement on the experts' plan and the subject of reparations has been reached by Premier Edward, Herriot of France and Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain.

The agreement is hailed here as a real move toward peace in Europe.

Premier MacDonald made the most concessions, going far towards surrendering his position that the experts' report goes beyond the treaty of Versailles. But he saved the proposed inter-allied conference which will be held July 16, as planned.

One thing the premiers agreed upon heartily and that was to make a concerted effort to have the United States name an official member of the reparations commission, and that the supervising director of reparations under the experts' plan should be an American.

The league of nations has been officially informed by the United States government that it can not adhere to the draft of the treaty of mutual assistance which the fourth assembly of the league voted should be circulated among all the governments with the request for expression of their views.

Holding that the fundamental principle of the treaty is to provide guarantees of mutual assistance and to establish the competency of the council of the league with respect to any decisions contemplated, the United States government says that in view of the United States constitution and of the fact that America is not a member of the league, the United States would find it impossible to give its adherence to the treaty.

The communication from Washington adds that the United States government has not failed to note that under article 17 of the treaty any state may give its partial adherence provided it is prepared to reduce its armaments in conformity with the treaty, but it thinks that it would not serve any useful purpose to consider the question of conditional or partial adherence when the conditions imposed "would of necessity" be of such a character as to deprive adherence of any substantial offer.

AMERICAN ATHLETES INCREASE THEIR LEAD

Win First Three Places in Pole Vault in Olympian Games.

Paris, July 11.—The United States won the first three places in the pole vault on the fifth day of the Olympic games.

Lee Barnes, Hollywood (Cal.) high school, won the pole vault from such performers as Glenn Graham of California Tech and James K. Brooker, University of Michigan, who were second and third, respectively. Ralph Spearow, University of Oregon, won sixth place. The winning height was 12 feet 8 1/2 inches.

The Yankee athletes' performance in this event added 20 points to the United States totals for the games, giving America a comfortable lead over Finland, as Tootell and the other hammer throwers added 16 more points in their events.

Finland won two firsts, both to the redit of their wonderful runner, Aaro Nurmi, who scored 20 points or his country when he took first place in the 1,500 meters and followed this up with a victory in the 5,000 meters shortly afterwards. Nurmi broke Olympic records in both the 1,500 meter and 5,000 meter events.

The point score at the end of the fifth day was: United States 177,
Finland 103, England 46 1/2, Sweden
24 1/2, France 13 1/2, Switzerland 10, Hungary 7 1/2, South Africa 5, New Zealand 4, Norway 4, Denmark 2, Canada 2.

AS WHEELER SEES IT

Wets Routed at All Three Political Conventions.

New York, July 11.—Wayne B.
Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon league, said: "The wets were routed in all three political conventions. The advocates of beer appeared at the Republican convention at Cleveland with the advertised intention of securing a plank in favor of beer. Their arguments were rejected.
Not a single leader would support their cause. The Democratic convention proved their Waterloo. They were deserted by those whose support they had expected. The dry South and West resented the offered beer label. No one appeared at the independent convention to urge a beer plank. The rout of the nullifiers of the constitution was too complete.
They were silenced. Law enforcement planks were adopted by both Republicans and Democrats."

Woman Granted Divorce.

Cincinnati, July 11.—Mrs. Ester D.
Kumbalek, prominent society woman and widow of Dr. Giles S. Mitchell, was granted a divorce and restored to the name of Mrs. Ester D. Mitchell by Judge Charles W. Hoffman in the court of domestic relations. Her husband, Irvine J. Kumbalek, a masseur of Chicago, withdrew his cross-petition in which he had asked alimony, and the court then proceeded to hear the uncontested divorce suit, which resulted in the awarding of the decree to her.

PROBE UNDER WAY

Special Grand Jury to Investigate Loan Company.

Cleveland, July 11.—Court ordered the convening of the special grand jury which will investigate operations of the Municipal Savings and Loan company, the Representative Realty company and allied corporations which are in receivership. The investigation was ordered by Atter-ney General Crabbe. A jury of 15 men was subpoenaed to appear in Common Pleas Judge Frank C. Phillips' court and 26 witnesses were called to testify. It is possible other witnesses may be summoned. The jury will inquire into the operations of the companies, the deposit accounts in the Municipal, the bookkeeping of the Representative, profits paid to officers and many other angles which were discussed at civil hearings before Special Master Evan Hopkins.

GUARD LEAVES LORAIN

Soldiers Replaced by American Legion Volunteers.

Lorain, O., July 11.—The last of the national guard on duty here entrained for home, being replaced by American Legion volunteers working under the direction of Police Chief Theodore Hoffman. Mayor George Hoffman letter to Brigadier General John Mc-Nugis, thanked him for being able to maintain order without instituting martial law.

Henry M. Baker, Red Cross national disaster director, told several hundred persons who attended a mass meeting that the organization was receiving adequate co-operation and that the work of restoring Lorain was rapidly progressing.

Relief funds for Lorain continue to

MANY WORKERS IDLE IN OHIO

Employment Conditions Shown to Be Unsatisfactory.

WITTER RECEIVES REPORTS

Problems of Placing Ohio's Idle in Employment Greatest in the Larger Cities—Applicants for Work More Numerous This Year Than Last. Reports of State-City Employment Agencies.

Columbus, July 11.—That employment conditions in Ohio were by far worse during the fiscal year ending June 30 than for that terminating June 30, 1923, is evidenced in the annual report of the labor statistics division to Herman R. Witter, industrial relations director, under whose supervision the state-city free employment agencies in the Buckeye state's principal cities function.

Applicants for work were more numerous since July 1, 1923, than during the year prior to that date, and placements were fewer, the report states.

Total registrations at the state-city employment offices during the fiscal year just ended amounted to 584,379, as compared with 467,631 persons having asked for work from July 1, 1922, to July 1, 1923. This shows that there were 116,739 more idle workers in Ohio after July 1, a year ago. Placements in the last fiscal year totaled 220,087 against 257,505 the year previous, indicating that 37,508 fewer persons were supplied with employment during the last 12 months than for the like period dating back from July 1, 1923.

In the farm and dairy classification 2,480 persons were given work since July 1 a year ago. This was an increase from 2,909 in the year preceding that date.

Male applicants for work in Ohio during the year have numbered 338,583, exclusive of the farm and dairy workers, of whom there were 2,644, and women asking for work numbered 179,789. The percentage of placements among women proved greater than among men.

From July 1, 1923, until the close of that calendar year there were 264,221 applicants for work and 118,634 placements. From Jan. 1, 1924, until June 30, there were 314,556 persons seeking employment and 98,973 placements. This tends to show that there has been a decided slump in industrial activity since the first of the year, bearing out the reports that many plants have ceased operation entirely and others proceeding on part-time basis only. This has left 215,583 idle persons in the state over the six-months period, while there were only 145,587 idle in the six months previous.

Problems of placing Ohio's idle in employment have been greatest in Cleveland. Records show that 120,751 men and 60,135 women applied for work since a year ago, and 34,927 men were given jobs and 27,014 women supplied with work by efforts of the personnel of that branch. An idle list of 120,945 was left, however.

There were 55,407 male applicants in Columbus and 33,103 females, the records disclose, while placements among the males numbered 18,218 and among females 18,865. These figures place Columbus second in the list of unemployed, a job having been found for only one in each three of the male applicants and two for each three female applicants.

Male applicants at Cincinnati totaled 21,320, with 10,634 placements, and female applicants numbered 23,516, of whom 9,988 were given jobs. At Youngstown 16,546 men sought work and 7,260 got it, while 18,764 women sought employment and 8,067 were provided with it.

Reports from the Akron employment office indicated it ranked third during the year with the volume of work, 62,200 males having asked for work there and 17,267 women applying also. Placements among males amounted to 15,332 and among women 7,595. Dayton took fourth place, with male applicants numbering 56,252 and females 14,568. At Dayton jobs were available for 15,279 men and 6,124 women.

In Toledo 44,006 men asked for work and 19,919 were given it, while 8,336 women sought employment, with 4,456 successful in obtaining it.

DAVIS TO STUMP MIDDLE WEST

Democratic Nominee Plans a Vigorous Campaign.

WILL DEVOTE TIME TO OHIO

Democratic National Committee Told by Davis That All Differences Must Be Buried and the Party United for Concerted Action in the Coming Campaign—Bryan Promises Assistance.

New York, July 11.—John W. Davis, Democratic nominee for president, addressed the members of the Democratic national committee here.

It was a movement to restore party harmony. Davis told the committeemen that all differences must be buried immediately, and that the party must be united for concerted action in the coming campaign. The committee acclaimed him enthusiastically for his unprecedented action in making a direct appeal to them in their meeting, which was called for the purpose of reorganization under the new leadership.

The committee followed the desire of Davis and did not select a new chairman, as is the usual custom. Adjournment was taken subject to the call of the present chairman, Cordell Hull. Reorganization will not be undertaken until a decision as to whom Davis desires for the chairmanship has been made.

Frank L. Polk, manager of the pre-convention campaign, has declined to accept the post and Davis does not wish to be placed in the position of attempting to overthrow the present machinery immediately.

Davis himself extended the olive branch to the leaders who had fought him and in his first pronouncement after his nomination called upon the party to unite.

The ascension of C. W. Bryan, brother of William Jennings Bryan, to second place on the national ticket also was planned to close the rift between the Commoner and Davis. Religious differences, which were so bitterly fought out, were hidden behind the veil of the past, and all the unsuccessful candidates gave assurances in varying degrees of co-operation.

Governor Smith, who was not permitted to address the convention as a candidate, but who came before it as governor of New York, after being defeated, was the first to extend his promise of support to his victor.

William J. Bryan also agreed to bury the hatchet. While the new Democratic nominee was receiving newspaper correspondents, the Commoner, who had attacked Davis in the convention, appeared and they shook hands cordially. Davis told Bryan he was counting on him for help, and Bryan replied he was glad to do anything he could.

Davis indicated he contemplates waging a vigorous campaign in Ohio. He said he probably will make a "swing around the circle," and will also devote much time to the middle west.

Selection of Governor Bryan for second place was made only after the Democrats had been twice turned down by prospective candidates for the vice presidency. Senator Walsh of Montana, Davis' first choice, in a letter to the convention, formally refused the offer, stating he could best serve his party by running for reelection to the senate. The name of Edwin T. Meredith of Iowa was withdrawn after he had refused to run with Davis on the ground that he was too conservative to appeal to the agricultural west.

As mayor of Lincoln and governor of Nebraska, Bryan forced lower prices in coal, gas, gravel and gasoline—always with the club of municipal or state sale held high over the head of the offenders.

Bryan was born at Salem, Ill., on Feb. 10, 1867. He attended the University of Chicago. He was elected governor of Nebraska in 1922.

DOINGS IN OHIO

Girl Shot by Suitor.

Middletown, O., July 11.—Robert Quigley, 28, of Franklin, shot and probably fatally wounded Miss Gladys Kirby, 17, as she was riding in an automobile driven by Bernard Leonard, to whom she had been accused by Quigley of transferring her affections. Quigley placed the wounded girl in his own automobile and drove to Franklin, whence the girl was taken to a Hamilton hospital. Quigley is under arrest.

Thorne Promoted.

Columbus, July 11.—Governor Donahy announced the promotion of George G. Thorne of Logan, O., who for a year has been executive clerk in the governor's office, to the post of deputy superintendent of insurance to succeed E. L. Savage, who was elevated to the superintendency to succeed Harry L. Conn, recently named associate justice of the state supreme court.

Sick Prisoner Pardoned.

Columbus, July 11.—Upon recommendation of Jefferson county officials, Vincenzo Sisto, who has served almost four years in the penitentiary for the murder of another Italian, was pardoned by Governor Donahy. Sisto, who is serving a life sentence, is in the last stages of tuberculosis, physicians say.

Crossing Fatality.

Toledo, July 11.—Thevlon Blake of Sidney was killed and Robert Preston of Sylvania and Herman Crawford of Napoleon seriously injured when a passenger train demolished an automobile at a grade crossing in Sylvania, a village west of this city.

Plane Falls; Three Killed.

Middleport, O., July 11.—News has been received of the death in India of Clive Flowers, Middleport boy, in an auto accident. Flowers was in the American navy.

Government Saves Million.

Washington, July 11.—Official figures on the operation of the sinking fund shows that the government saved more than $1,000,000 in buying back its own securities in the year ending June 30. In carrying out provisions of the sinking fund law, the treasury bought back $295,987,350 of liberty bonds and treasury notes, for which it paid $294,727,019. The entire reduction in the public debt, the treasury said, was approximately $1,100,000,000 in the last 12 months.

REAL MOVE SEEN TOWARD PEACE

France and England in Agreement on Experts' Plan.

BRITISH MAKE CONCESSIONS

Premier MacDonald Goes Far Toward Surrendering His Stand That the Experts' Report Goes Beyond the Treaty of Versailles—United States Rejects Draft of Mutual Assistance Treaty.

Paris, July 11.—An agreement on the experts' plan and the subject of reparations has been reached by Premier Edward, Herriot of France and Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain.

The agreement is hailed here as a real move toward peace in Europe.

Premier MacDonald made the most concessions, going far towards surrendering his position that the experts' report goes beyond the treaty of Versailles. But he saved the proposed inter-allied conference which will be held July 16, as planned.

One thing the premiers agreed upon heartily and that was to make a concerted effort to have the United States name an official member of the reparations commission, and that the supervising director of reparations under the experts' plan should be an American.

The league of nations has been officially informed by the United States government that it can not adhere to the draft of the treaty of mutual assistance which the fourth assembly of the league voted should be circulated among all the governments with the request for expression of their views.

Holding that the fundamental principle of the treaty is to provide guarantees of mutual assistance and to establish the competency of the council of the league with respect to any decisions contemplated, the United States government says that in view of the United States constitution and of the fact that America is not a member of the league, the United States would find it impossible to give its adherence to the treaty.

The communication from Washington adds that the United States government has not failed to note that under article 17 of the treaty any state may give its partial adherence provided it is prepared to reduce its armaments in conformity with the treaty, but it thinks that it would not serve any useful purpose to consider the question of conditional or partial adherence when the conditions imposed "would of necessity" be of such a character as to deprive adherence of any substantial offer.

AMERICAN ATHLETES INCREASE THEIR LEAD

Win First Three Places in Pole Vault in Olympian Games.

Paris, July 11.—The United States won the first three places in the pole vault on the fifth day of the Olympic games.

Lee Barnes, Hollywood (Cal.) high school, won the pole vault from such performers as Glenn Graham of California Tech and James K. Brooker, University of Michigan, who were second and third, respectively. Ralph Spearow, University of Oregon, won sixth place. The winning height was 12 feet 8 1/2 inches.

The Yankee athletes' performance in this event added 20 points to the United States totals for the games, giving America a comfortable lead over Finland, as Tootell and the other hammer throwers added 16 more points in their events.

Finland won two firsts, both to the credit of their wonderful runner, Aavo Nurmi, who scored 20 points for his country when he took first place in the 1,500 meters and followed this up with a victory in the 5,000 meters shortly afterwards. Nurmi broke Olympic records in both the 1,500 meter and 5,000 meter events.

The point score at the end of the fifth day was: United States 177, Finland 103, England 46 1/2, Sweden 24 1/2, France 13 1/2, Switzerland 10, Hungary 7 1/2, South Africa 5, New Zealand 4, Norway 4, Denmark 2, Canada 2.

AS WHEELER SEES IT

Wets Routed at All Three Political Conventions.

New York, July 11.—Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon league, said: "The wets were routed in all three political conventions. The advocates of beer appeared at the Republican convention at Cleveland with the advertised intention of securing a plank in favor of beer. Their arguments were rejected. Not a single leader would support their cause. The Democratic convention proved their Waterloo. They were deserted by those whose support they had expected. The dry South and West resented the offered beer label. No one appeared at the independent convention to urge a beer plank. The rout of the nullifiers of the constitution was too complete. They were silenced. Law enforcement planks were adopted by both Republicans and Democrats."

Woman Granted Divorce.

Cincinnati, July 11.—Mrs. Ester D. Kumbalek, prominent society woman and widow of Dr. Giles S. Mitchell, was granted a divorce and restored to the name of Mrs. Ester D. Mitchell by Judge Charles W. Hoffman in the court of domestic relations. Her husband, Irvine J. Kumbalek, a masseur of Chicago, withdrew his cross-petition in which he had asked alimony, and the court then proceeded to hear the uncontested divorce suit, which resulted in the awarding of the decree to her.

PROBE UNDER WAY

Special Grand Jury to Investigate Loan Company.

Cleveland, July 11.—Court ordered the convening of the special grand jury which will investigate operations of the Municipal Savings and Loan company, the Representative Realty company and allied corporations which are in receivership. The investigation was ordered by Attorney General Crabbe. A jury of 15 men was subpoenaed to appear in Common Pleas Judge Frank C. Phillips' court and 26 witnesses were called to testify. It is possible other witnesses may be summoned. The jury will inquire into the operations of the companies, the deposit accounts in the Municipal, the book-keeping of the Representative, profits paid to officers and many other angles which were discussed at civil hearings before Special Master Evan Hopkins.

GUARD LEAVES LORAIN

Soldiers Replaced by American Legion Volunteers.

Lorain, O., July 11.—The last of the national guard on duty here entrained for home, being replaced by American Legion volunteers working under the direction of Police Chief Theodore Miller. Mayor George Hoffman, in letter to Brigadier General John McQuigg, thanked him for being able to maintain order without instituting martial law.

Henry M. Baker, Red Cross national disaster director, told several hundred persons who attended a mass meeting that the organization was receiving adequate co-operation and that the work of restoring Lorain was rapidly progressing.

Relief funds for Lorain continue to pour into the offices of the Red Cross and to D. C. Wills, treasurer of the Ohio relief committee.

Cleanliness Is Big Factor With Chicks

Many Ailments of Youngsters Can Be Prevented.

"The biggest factor in growing good pullets is cleanliness," says W. H. Allen, specialist in poultry husbandry at the New Jersey State College of Agriculture, New Brunswick. "Such troubles as intestinal worms, coccidiosis, and paralysis are some of the troubles in pullet raising which can be prevented by cleanliness. At the time of hatching the chick is free from all diseases except bacillary white diarrhoea, and is free from this disease as well, unless the breeding stock is infected. Deaths alone are not caused by disease; digestive organs of surviving chicks may be injured, thus resulting in inefficient food assimilation.

"Cleanliness starts with the coop. This should be thoroughly cleaned each week, the litter and droppings removed and new litter put in. The ground is the best source of trouble to be watched. The soil next to the house should be turned under from time to time, and especially during wet weather. The house should be wired so that the chicks cannot get under it, as this ground will get moldy and become infected with disease. All poultry manure on the farm should be kept dry during the summer months and the manure shed should be screened to prevent flies from breeding in it. Flies are the source of much of the tapeworm troubles. Just because one flock is laying 50 per cent during November, is no reason why all will. Whether a flock lays well next winter or not depends upon how well they have been grown.

"Last, all old birds should be quarantined from the young stock. Old stock often carry disease, though they may not show it; hence, they are a menace to the growing stock."

Imported Parasites to Control Alfalfa Weevil

Destructiveness of the alfalfa weevil in the West has led entomologists to give attention for some years to the possibility of using parasites to assist in controlling this pest and to search in Europe, where the alfalfa weevil is native, for suitable species. Of the 12 species which have been brought from Europe into the United States five have shown promise of practical usefulness in Utah. One in particular, Bathyplectes curculionis, has become well established, so that it actually swarms in infested fields in this state and, in some instances, destroys over 90 per cent of the weevil larvae. Several promising species of parasites which might aid in controlling other stages of the weevil have thus far failed to become established.

A new department circular, No. 301, entitled "Introduction of Parasites of the Alfalfa Weevil Into the United States," by Thomas R. Chamberlin, entomologist, gives a brief account of the more important imported parasites and discusses the effectiveness of Bathyplectes curculionis. It may be obtained, while the supply lasts, by applying to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington.

Weeds Harm Soy Beans

One thing the successful soy bean grower learns is that they must be given the right care at the right time. Nothing is so disastrous to them as a crop of weeds growing with them. It is more profitable to grow five acres right than twenty acres full of weeds. Weeds reduce the yield and quality of the beans severely, make cutting very difficult and at threshing time there is a mass of stuff to handle.

Farm Hints

Owning a farm home makes for ambition, industry and thrift.

Buy or prepare bluestone paste for treating watermelon stems.

Plan to get some resistant crop into the rotation on soil infested with root knot.

All varieties of soy beans are soil-builders and are worth the labor and expense of planting for that purpose alone.

Time invested in helping to build up a better community will pay big dividends in happier and more prosperous people.

All farmers should not go into the raising of hogs in large numbers, but every farmer can have some hogs and make swine raising fit into his other farm operations.

Farmers who grew soy beans last year and saved the seed have made from $20 to $100 per acre from the sale of seed, and the crop can be grown after grain.

Any common tin can filled half full of axle grease in which is placed an old, worn-out paint brush, will be found very handy on the farm for greasing plow shares and cultivator shovels.

Legumes mean more and better live stock, a more productive soil, better quality and better yields of grain, less expense and larger profits; in brief, more prosperity for the farmers, the business men and the community.

Wide Variation in Vitality of Seeds

In the past there was perhaps no other trade in which swindling was so rampant as in that of the sale of seeds. The artless dealer of half a century ago adulterated his goods by adding a considerable proportion of boiled seeds.

The seed adulteration act put a stop to that practice, but not to the sale of dirty and old seeds. Most seeds are "dirty" when fresh gathered—that is, they contain a considerable percentage of weed seed, and all the great seed houses possess elaborate and costly machinery for cleaning, says London Answers.

Clover seed has to be carefully cleaned. If this is not done the result will be a crop of all kinds of pernicious weeds in the clover field. Some weed seeds, such as those of the dodder, are so tiny that it is almost impossible to detect them except under a strong magnifying glass.

Seeds vary in their powers of retaining life. While those of peas and beans will retain vitality for many years, others, such as those of the pansy, are useless if kept over one season. Seeds of the willow and the poplar are so short-lived that unless they land at once in a moist place, they die in a few days.

Russell Smith, 8, kidnaped from his mother, Mrs. Clara Smith of Boston, five years ago, was awarded to her in juvenile court at Chicago after she had identified him.

Cleanliness Is Big Factor With Chicks

Many Ailments of Youngsters Can Be Prevented.

"The biggest factor in growing good pullets is cleanliness," says W. H. Allen, specialist in poultry husbandry at the New Jersey State College of Agriculture, New Brunswick. "Such troubles as intestinal worms, coccidiosis, and paralysis are some of the troubles in pullet raising which can be prevented by cleanliness. At the time of hatching the chick is free from all diseases except bacillary white diarrhoea, and is free from this disease as well, unless the breeding stock is infected. Deaths alone are not caused by disease; digestive organs of surviving chicks may be injured, thus resulting in inefficient food assimilation.

"Cleanliness starts with the coop. This should be thoroughly cleaned each week, the litter and droppings removed and new litter put in. The ground is the best source of trouble to be watched. The soil next to the house should be turned under from time to time, and especially during wet weather. The house should be wired so that the chicks cannot get under it, as this ground will get moldy and become infected with disease. All poultry manure on the farm should be kept dry during the summer months and the manure shed should be screened to prevent flies from breeding in it. Flies are the source of much of the tapeworm troubles. Just because one flock is laying 50 per cent during November, is no reason why all will. Whether a flock lays well or not depends upon how well they have been grown.

"Last, all old birds should be quarantined from the young stock. Old stock often carry disease, though they may not show it; hence, they are a menace to the growing stock."

Imported Parasites to Control Alfalfa Weevil

Destructiveness of the alfalfa weevil in the West has led entomologists to give attention for some years to the possibility of using parasites to assist in controlling this pest and to search in Europe, where the alfalfa weevil is native, for suitable species. Of the 12 species which have been brought from Europe into the United States five have shown promise of practical usefulness in Utah. One in particular, Bathyplectes curculionis, has become well established, so that it actually swarms in infested fields in this state and, in some instances, destroys over 90 per cent of the weevil larvae. Several promising species of parasites which might aid in controlling other stages of the weevil have thus far failed to become established.

A new department circular, No. 301, entitled "Introduction of Parasites of the Alfalfa Weevil into the United States," by Thomas R. Chamberlin, entomologist, gives a brief account of the more important imported parasites and discusses the effectiveness of Bathyplectes curculionis. It may be obtained, while the supply lasts, by applying to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington.

Weeds Harm Soy Beans

One thing the successful soy bean grower learns is that they must be given the right care at the right time. Nothing is so disastrous to them as a crop of weeds growing with them. It is more profitable to grow five acres right than twenty acres full of weeds. Weeds reduce the yield and quality of the beans severely, make cutting very difficult and at threshing time there is a mass of stuff to handle.

Owning a farm home makes for ambition, industry and thrift.

Buy or prepare bluestone paste for treating watermelon stems.

Plan to get some resistant crop into the rotation on soil infested with root knot.

All varieties of soy beans are soil-builders and are worth the labor and expense of planting for that purpose alone.

Time invested in helping to build up a better community will pay big dividends in happier and more prosperous people.

All farmers should not go into the raising of hogs in large numbers, but every farmer can have some hogs and make swine raising fit into his other farm operations.

Farmers who grew soy beans last year and saved the seed have made from $20 to $100 per acre from the sale of seed, and the crop can be grown after grain.

Any common tin can filled half full of axle grease in which is placed an old, worn-out paint brush, will be found very handy on the farm for greasing plow shares and cultivator shovels.

Legumes mean more and better live stock, a more productive soil, better quality and better yields of grain, less expense and larger profits; in brief, more prosperity for the farmers, the business men and the community.

Wide Variation in Vitality of Seeds

In the past there was perhaps no other trade in which swindling was so rampant as in that of the sale of seeds. The artless dealer of half a century ago adulterated his goods by adding a considerable proportion of boiled seeds.

The seed adulteration act put a stop to that practice, but not to the sale of dirty and old seeds. Most seeds are "dirty" when fresh gathered—that is, they contain a considerable percentage of weed seed, and all the great seed houses possess elaborate and costly machinery for cleaning, says London Answers.

Clover seed has to be carefully cleaned. If this is not done the result will be a crop of all kinds of pernicious weeds in the clover field. Some weed seeds, such as those of the dodder, are so tiny that it is almost impossible to detect them except under a strong magnifying glass.

Seeds vary in their powers of retaining life. While those of peas and beans will retain vitality for many years, others, such as those of the pansy, are useless if kept over one season. Seeds of the willow and the poplar are so short-lived that unless they land at once in a moist place, they die in a few days.

Russell Smith, 8, kidnaped from his mother, Mrs. Clara Smith of Boston, five years ago, was awarded to her in juvenile court at Chicago after she had identified him.

HERRICK
DRY AIR SYSTEM
REFRIGERATOR

The Big Difference In Refrigerators

The main object of any refrigerator, of course, is the preservation of foods. The refrigerator that will keep foods in perfect condition longest is naturally the refrigerator you want—provided it doesn't increase your ice bills.

The Herrick answers those requirements with facts—not claims. And it does even more. It actually decreases your ice bills while giving you more effective food preservation.

And why? Simply because the Herrick is far more than an ice box—far more than a cold storage place. It is built on the scientifically demonstrated principle that more than merely cold air is necessary to keep foods in good condition for any great length of time.

Perhaps the biggest essentials to scientifically correct refrigeration are—

- No. 1. Circulation of cold dry air.
- No. 2. Effective insulation.
- No. 3. Air-tight construction.

That the Herrick has these necessary essentials is a demonstrated fact. Many proofs of the truth are visible even to the least informed purchaser. Others are hidden within the walls of the refrigerator, but nevertheless there, performing their functions so important to good health and economy.

DR. ORLANDO PETTY
CITED FOR BRAVERY

Unusual heroism by a Philadelphia physician who remained for hours under fire in his dressing station during the battle of Belleau Wood and then carried a wounded officer on whom he had been operating to safety when the station was destroyed, has been recognized with an award of the Congressional Medal of Honor by the government.

The man who is thus signally honored, says the Philadelphia Ledger, is Capt. Orlando H. Petty, attached during the war to the Naval Medical corps.

Doctor Petty enlisted in the naval reserves, four days before the United States entered the war. He left with the Fifth regiment marines. With the "Devil Dogs," he saw fierce fighting from June, 1918, until late in the summer. On June 11 he performed the deed which won for him the medal.

Under a heavy shell fire, he worked in his dressing station until it literally fell in flames over his head, when he escaped to a place of safety with the wounded officer on his back.

He was severely gassed, and was in the hospital many days, but he insisted, long before having entirely recovered, upon returning to duty. He was cited for bravery because of the action.

Doctor Petty was the only member of the Medical Reserve corps during the war to receive a Congressional Medal of Honor. He also was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross of the United States and the Croix de Guerre with palm, of France.

Recently he was appointed physician in charge of the department of metabolism of the Philadelphia General hospital and elected to the professorship of diseases of metabolism in the graduate school of medicine of the University of Pennsylvania.

Doctor Petty is a graduate of Franklin college and the Jefferson Medical college. For several years he was pathologist and director of laboratories at the Germantown hospital. He is a member of the Pennsylvania society, Sons of the Revolution, of the Aesculapian and Manufacturers' clubs, and is a fellow of the College of Physicians of Philadelphia, and of the American College of Physicians.

Legion Boys Condemn
School Board's Action

Action taken by the Macon (Ga.) city board of education in barring "Young" Stribling, a professional prize fighter, from completing high school work has been condemned by American Legion members in that city.

Stribling attended Lanier high school, but was dropped by the board because of his professional athletics. He has appeared under the auspices of a number of Legion posts in benefit boxing shows.

Disabled Veterans' Clinic

A disabled veterans' clinic for Cedar Rapids, Ia., has been sought by members of the American Legion in that city, according to post officials. Under the recommendations of the Legion, the clinic would be in the main for examination of tuberculous patients, in order to make available the services of a competent staff of sanitarium physicians located in the city.

To Help Sell Land

The American Legion in Umatilla county, Oregon, has offered to join with commercial organizations in the sale of lands to colonize the Teel irrigation district, if the project is approved by the state. A proposal has been made before the state irrigation and securities commissions to sell the land in farm units of 80 acres. The total tract is 16,500 acres.

To Help New Legion Home

A dollar from each member of the Woman's Relief corps in Blackwell, Okla., will be given annually to the American Legion. The local post is erecting a new home and the women's organization decided to make this donation in order to help the fund. One hundred and fifty members of the corps contributed to the fund.

Essay Contest

"The American Legion as a Community Asset" is the subject of an essay contest authorized in North Adams, Mass., by the Frank R. Stiles post of the American Legion. Special cash prizes have been announced for the best essay submitted by school children of high and grammar schools.

Falling Stars.
Falling stars or shooting stars are small bodies that enter the earth's atmosphere from without and, being intensely heated by impact with the air, are consumed before reaching the ground. These meteorites occasionally reach the earth as masses of rock composed chiefly of iron, but also of nickel, cobalt, copper and other metals. The most famous meteorite of antiquity was the stone of Egos-Potamos, which fell in Thrace in 466 B. C. and was described as equaling two mill-stones in size. A remarkable detonating meteorite fell near Hightbrook, Ariz., on July 19, 1912. The explosion so completely shattered the mass that the largest fragment found weighed only 14 pounds; upward of 14,000 stones were gathered, weighing in all 481 pounds.

Compound Interest

We often hear that Peter Minuet in 1626 paid the Indians only $24 for Manhattan island. We are apt to think of this as a ridiculously small sum for what is today the most valuable piece of land of its size in the world; but we do not stop to think that if this original $24 had been invested by Peter Minuet at the rate of 7 per cent per annum and compounded every six months to date, it would have earned a sum equivalent to the assessed value of the entire city of New York, so it is said, including its streets, sewers, railways, subways, theaters, hotels, skyscrapers and palatial homes.—Thrill Magazine.

CIRCUS COMING

Second Largest Show on Road to be in Circleville, August 29.

The Sells-Floto circus, the second largest show on the road is coming to this city Friday, August 29. C. W. Finney the advance man was in the city today and made arrangements for the show's appearance on the above date. Mr. Finney was the guest of Rudolph and Orrin Gessley, old time friends. He said that this city was given the preference as it was central in this valley and easy to reach by citizens of other counties surrounding.

The show carries sixty cars, has two elephants, three rings and two stages and is the only big show on the road still giving parades, which is a feature of the show. The big circus has made arrangements to show on the Mason lot, North Court street. Additional space had to be secured to show as the lot is not large enough to stage feed tents and the kitchen and mess tents on the same ground, the field back of J. D. Newton east of Court street was secured for this department.

It has been some years since this city has been booked by as large a circus as the Sells-Floto, but the selection is a wise one, as that time of the year nearly all farm work has been finished and farmers will be able to take a holiday and come to Circleville for a day's outing.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

The Lutheran Brotherhood Thursday evening motored to the home of George H. Roof and held its meeting under the shady trees. Nearly 250 were present, the women seeming to outnumber the men. Rev. Troutman acted as president and Miss Groce and her young orchestra furnished delightful music. C. C. Mack spoke on "A Real Man." George Troutman Jr., gave his maiden speech on "Character." Rev. Ernest Winterhoff, of St. Paul, gave a fine talk. A lunch was served under the direction of E. C. Ebert.

A whist party given under the auspices of the Circleville Benevolent society was held Thursday afternoon at the Elks club from 2:30 until 5 o'clock. Two hundred ladies were present. Baskets of hydrangeas and gladioli were the floral decorations. Mrs. L. B. James received the guests at the entrance to the club house and Miss Sadie Brunner, Miss Mary Marfield and Mrs. D. V. Courtwright at the lodge room. Besides whist, several tables were given up to the devotees of mah jong. The ladies were delighted with the pleasant surroundings and furnishings of the pleasant lodge rooms and all thru the hot afternoon they were comfortable. Nearly $100 was taken in and this will tide the society over for the summer. The funds of the association were low and the party was given in order to stabilize the exchequer before making a drive in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. James Brown and daughters, Pauline and Aileen, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Fosnaugh, Miss Sarah Stebleton, Mr. Clark Lovett, Miss Ruth Lovette, Miss Helen Martin and Mr. Lowell Lutz, all of Stoutsville, motored to Lancaster Friday evening, July 4, and attended the fireworks.

Window Sills.

A jut in a window, which has no sill, may be made to look attractive by placing a box in it, and by proper covering be transformed into a window-seat. A cover may be hung on the front, and the interior used for storage purposes. In small rooms such a nook is impossible, as it takes up too much space.

Daylight at Night.

One of Edison's latest inventions is a portable searchlight, mounted on cart wheels, which will illuminate the side of a building at a distance of over 200 feet, producing at night practically the glare of noonday. From the axle is suspended a box of batteries, which are always ready for use.

Sensation of Hunger.

The sensation of hunger may not be an evidence of the immediate need of food. The people of Ireland, used to voluminous rations of potatoes, complain of starvation and hunger when given greater food values, but in smaller bulk. The same is true of the bread-eating peasants of Bavaria when put on a meat diet.

A Grievous Error.

Wife, entering room wringing her hands: "Now I have done it! But it serves me right for not turning on the light. I might have known I should make a mistake!" Husband: "What have you done—taken poison?" Wife: "Poison? No. I've put a stamp on a postcard."

PYTHONS SOLD AT
SO MUCH A YARDTakes Six Husky Men to Un-coil and Measure Big, Spunky Snake.

New York.—There is one market in New York which has a wider range between longs and shorts than Wall street itself. It is the python market. You can get pythons, at the right time of year, anywhere from seven feet to twenty-five in length. Usually they are sold as ribbon is sold; the more you want, the more you have to pay.

Pythons form an industry, and New York is the center of it for America. Every year men go from here to Africa, India, Sumatra and South America, and early in the spring New York has a python population of 250 or so. They are sold mostly to traveling shows, which go on the road in the spring.

Possibly because the show people always expect bad business in a Presidential year, or perhaps because of the backward weather, the early part of 1924 brought a slump. In general, however, the python trade is steady; pythons and boas are two of the world's commodities which have not been greatly affected in price by the war. Quotations and demand are now about what they were ten years ago, or twenty.

A seven-foot python can be had for $20. A length of 25 feet—found in the regal pythons from Sumatra—runs the price up to $600 or $700. Boas come smaller; 16 feet is the maximum at an age of eight to ten years, according to snake dealers, and this is also true of rock pythons. In price the boas start where the pythons do, and the biggest of them fetches about $200.

Cheap Pet to Feed.

The upkeep, though, is astonishingly small. The big snakes are as economical a pet as one could have; one of them can sometimes get along on an expenditure not much larger than the seed bill of a husky canary, and while they usually live 13 years or so, occasionally they last 40 or 50.

"Sometimes they do not eat for two or three years," says Louis Ruhe, who imports 150 a year out of the 250 that are brought into the country. "Then you have to use forcible feeding. Two quarts of milk, with half a dozen eggs in it, administered through a hose every two or three months, will keep them alive."

If the python is cheerful it feeds once a month on live animals. That is the meal schedule in captivity; in the wild it feeds when it can, more or less. Wild porcupine is a titbit and plain pig will often tempt a python, though rabbits and guinea pigs are the most frequent dish.

The porcupine's quills have no terrors for the reptile; it knows which end to swallow first so the quills will lie flat.

When a boa or python is in captivity, however, it may become disgusted with life and look as if it were too tired to eat. A few months of this and a 25-foot snake that normally weighs 200 pounds will drop 40 pounds. Then is the time for the eggs and the rubber hose.

If a snake hasn't eaten for several months it looks lethargic; one that has fed is not easy to handle. It takes six men to measure a big python, according to Mr. Ruhe; to take it out of the box and use the tape and put it back. The snake often shows fight, and its way of fighting is to coil. If it gets a grip on something, then comes a tug of war. Just lugging it out and straightening it and dropping it back in the box is a half-hour's work for six strong men, and it leaves them exhausted.

Recovering a Stray.

Sometimes one of the big fellows gets loose. That happened not so long ago. Small boys looking up at a store window saw 25 feet of snake hanging out and looking around. They called a policeman, and the policeman, after some hours, succeeded in calling the store attendants. They all got together at the store and heaved until the snake was boxed again. It was an arm-wrenching job.

The men who do the hunting in the wilds take chances, for they go out, often hundreds of miles in the forests, with only two or three attendants. Often they are among natives who will not touch a snake because of tabu. There are narrow escapes, but the tight boxes of pythons keep arriving in New York in time for the circus and show seasons, and not a snake of the lot is under seven feet. India sends two where Africa sends one.

Now and then it is a case of "Pigs Is Pigs." The trip from India takes 45 days. A snake that started alone may be found at the end of it coiled around two dozen eggs, and in another two weeks the young are out.

America has a considerable domestic snake business, with flourishing plants in Texas. This deals with rattlesnakes and such, which have their special attractions, but it is the big snake that draws the crowd when the Barker begins his patter before the tent.

DISCUSS CAMPAIGN PLANS

Republican Leaders in Conference
With Chairman Montgomery.

Columbus, July 11.—Republican organization leaders of Ohio's big cities were in conference here with State Chairman C. W. Montgomery. A general plan for the Republican state campaign was the principal topic of discussion. Montgomery denied that there was any attempt to concentrate the support of the cities behind any one of the Republican gubernatorial aspirants. He said:

"The governorship was discussed along with several other topics, but there was no serious consideration given to any one candidate. The conference was merely a meeting of the party leaders which would naturally follow the Democratic convention and the general subjects discussed were national affairs."

The fact that former Governor Harry L. Davis arrived in Columbus simultaneously with the organization leaders and that George E. Harris, Davis' opponent for the governorship, came at the same time, was regarded as having some political significance.

SOLDIERS BLINDED

American Cartridges Are Blamed by

Mexican Officials.

Mexico City, July 11.—Fifty or more federal soldiers were blinded when eight millimeter cartridges, brought from the United States for use in Enfield rifles during the recent De la Huerta revolution, exploded, according to Lieutenant Colonel Jose Ortiz, chief of staff of General Arnulfo R. Gomez, commanding the city garrison here. It was previously stated that several soldiers had lost their lives due to some explosions. The responsibility is attributed to Mexican agents sent to the United States to buy ammunition. It is said they bought the oldest stock in order to collect the largest possible commission.

Running Mate For LaFollette.

St. Louis, July 11.—Sheridan Carlisle, president of the National Progressive league, telegraphed Senator LaFollette urging Governor Charles Bryan as a running mate. Carlisle said: "Senator Robert M. LaFollette and Governor Charles W. Bryan would carry every state west of Pennsylvania and north of the Mason and Dixon line, with several southern states."

Youthful Bandits.

Cleveland, July 11.—Police are searching for three bandits, one a boy in short trousers, who held up and robbed a taxicab driver. A few minutes later the same trio held up a gasoline filling station and rifled the cash drawer. Victims of the bandits told police the boy went about the robberies like a veteran.

Nearly $100 was taken in and this will tide the society over for the summer. The funds of the association were low and the party was given in order to stabilize the exchequer before making a drive in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. James Brown and daughters, Pauline and Aileen, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Fosnaugh, Miss Sarah Stebleton, Mr. Clark Lovett, Miss Ruth Lovette, Miss Helen Martin and Mr. Lowell Lutz, all of Stoutsville, motored to Lancaster Friday evening, July 4, and attended the fireworks.

Window Sills.
A jut in a window, which has no sill, may be made to look attractive by placing a box in it, and by proper covering be transformed into a window-seat. A cover may be hinged on the front, and the interior used for storage purposes. In small rooms such a nook is impossible, as it takes up too much space.

Daylight at Night.
One of Edison's latest inventions is a portable searchlight, mounted on cart wheels, which will illuminate the side of a building at a distance of over 200 feet, producing at night practically the glare of noonday. From the axle is suspended a box of batteries, which are always ready for use.

Sensation of Hunger.
The sensation of hunger may not be an evidence of the immediate need of food. The people of Ireland, used to voluminous rations of potatoes, complain of starvation and hunger when given greater food values, but in smaller bulk. The same is true of the bread-eating peasants of Bavaria when put on a meat diet.

A Grievous Error.
Wife, entering room wringing her hands: "Now I have done it! But it serves me right for not turning on the light. I might have known I should make a mistake!" Husband—"What have you done—taken poison?" Wife—"Poison? No. I've put a stamp on a postcard."

PYTHONS SOLD AT SO MUCH A YARD

Takes Six Husky Men to Uncoil and Measure Big, Spunky Snake.

New York.—There is one market in New York which has a wider range between long and shorts than Wall street itself. It is the python market. You can get pythons, at the right time of year, anywhere from seven feet to twenty-five in length. Usually they are sold as ribbon is sold; the more you want, the more you have to pay.
Pythons form an industry, and New York is the center of it for America. Every year men go from here to Africa, India, Sumatra and South America, and early in the spring New York has a python population of 250 or so. They are sold mostly to traveling shows, which go on the road in the spring.
Possibly because the show people always expect bad business in a Presidential year, or perhaps because of the backward weather, the early part of 1924 brought a slump. In general, however, the python trade is steady; pythons and boas are two of the world's commodities which have not been greatly affected in price by the war. Quotations and demand are now about what they were ten years ago, or twenty.
A seven-foot python can be had for $20. A length of 25 feet—found in the regal pythons from Sumatra—runs the price up to $800 or $700. Boas come smaller; 16 feet is the maximum at an age of eight to ten years, according to snake dealers, and this is also true of rock pythons. In price the boas start where the pythons do, and the biggest of them fetches about $200.
Cheap Pet to Feed.
The upkeep, though, is astonishingly small. The big snakes are as economical a pet as one could have; one of them can sometimes get along on an expenditure not much larger than the seed bill of a husky canary, and while they usually live 13 years or so, occasionally they last 40 or 50.
"Sometimes they do not eat for two or three years," says Louis Ruhe, who imports 150 a year out of the 250 that are brought into the country. "Then you have to use forcible feeding. Two quarts of milk, with half a dozen eggs in it, administered through a hose every two or three months, will keep them alive."
If the python is cheerful it feeds once a month on live animals. That is the meal schedule in captivity; in the wild it feeds when it can, more or less. Wild porcupine is a titbit and plain pig will often tempt a python, though rabbits and guinea pigs are the most frequent dish.
The porcupine's quills have no terrors for the reptile; it knows which end to swallow first so the quills will lie flat.
When a boa or python is in captivity, however, it may become disgusted with life and look as if it were too tired to eat. A few months of this and a 25-foot snake that normally weighs 200 pounds will drop 40 pounds. Then is the time for the eggs and the rubber hose.
If a snake hasn't eaten for several months it looks lethargic; one that has fed is not easy to handle. It takes six men to measure a big python, according to Mr. Ruhe; to take it out of the box and use the tape and put it back. The snake often shows fight, and its way of fighting is to coil. If it gets a grip on something, then comes a tug of war. Just lugging it out and straightening it and dropping it back in the box is a half-hour's work for six strong men, and it leaves them exhausted.
Recovering a Stray.
Sometimes one of the big fellows gets loose. That happened not so long ago. Small boys looking up at a store window saw 25 feet of snake hanging out and looking around. They called a policeman, and the policeman, after some hours, succeeded in culling the store attendants. They all got together at the stern and heaved-ho until the snake was boxed again. It was an arm-wrenching job.
The men who do the hunting in the wilds take chances, for they go out, often hundreds of miles in the forests, with only two or three attendants. Often they are among natives who will not touch a snake because of tabu. There are narrow escapes, but the tight boxes of pythons keep arriving in New York in time for the circus and show seasons, and not a snake of the lot is under seven feet. India sends two where Africa sends one.
Now and then it is a case of "Pigs Is Pigs." The trip from India takes 45 days. A snake that started alone may be found at the end of it coiled around two dozen eggs, and in another two weeks the young are out.
America has a considerable domestic snake business, with flourishing plants in Texas. This deals with rattlesnakes and such, which have their special attractions, but it is the big snake that draws the crowd when the Barker begins his patter before the tent.

Republican Leaders in Conference With Chairman Montgomery.
Columbus, July 11.—Republican organization leaders of Ohio's big cities were in conference here with State Chairman C. W. Montgomery. A general plan for the Republican state campaign was the principal topic of discussion. Montgomery denied that there was any attempt to concentrate the support of the cities behind any one of the Republican gubernatorial aspirants. He said:
"The governorship was discussed along with several other topics, but there was no serious consideration given to any one candidate. The conference was merely a meeting of the party leaders which would naturally follow the Democratic convention and the general subjects discussed were national affairs."

The fact that former Governor Harry L. Davis arrived in Columbus simultaneously with the organization leaders and that George E. Harris, Davis' opponent for the governorship, came at the same time, was regarded as having some political significance.
SOLDIERS BLINDED
American Cartridges Are Blamed by Mexican Officials.
Mexico City, July 11.—Fifty or more federal soldiers were blinded when eight millimeter cartridges, brought from the United States for use in Huerta revolution, exploded, according to Lieutenant Colonel Jose Ortiz, chief of staff of General Arnulfo R. Gomez, commanding the city garrison here. It was previously stated that several soldiers had lost their lives due to some explosions. The responsibility is attributed to Mexican agents sent to the United States to buy ammunition. It is said they bought the oldest stock in order to collect the largest possible commission.
Running Mate For LaFollette.
St. Louis, July 11.—Sheridan Carlisle, president of the National Progressive league, telegraphed Senator LaFollette urging Governor Charles Bryan as a running mate. Carlisle said: "Senator Robert M. LaFollette and Governor Charles W. Bryan would carry every state west of Pennsylvania and north of the Mason and Dixon line, with several southern states."
Youthful Bandits.
Cleveland, July 11.—Police are searching for three bandits, one a boy in short trousers, who held up and robbed a taxicab driver. A few minutes later the same trio held up a gasoline filling station and rifled the cash drawer. Victims of the bandits told police the boy went about the robberies like a veteran.
Coined by Horace
The term "rare bird" used in speaking of an exceptional person is referred back to the Latin poet, Horace, who in one of his satires first employed the phrase in speaking of a peacock.
Odd Bequest Condition
A woman who died in Paris recently left her husband a large sum of money on condition that he stay away from her funeral.

COMMUNITY SWIMMING POOL
The long-talked-of swimming pool now begins to look like a reality. At the meeting of the Rotary club Thursday the matter was again brought up and the insistent demand of the boys and girls as well as of many others was answered by the starting of the subscription paper to make the pool a success.

Realizing that someone will have to assume the responsibility for proper supervision as well as for necessary contracts the club voted to take this responsibility. This they backed with subscriptions amounting to $280.

In the evening a committee representing the American Legion, chamber of commerce and the Rotary club met at the Boggs and outlined plans for securing the rest of the money necessary to secure the pool.

The Business Women's club has offered their services in this. The thousand dollars necessary to insure more than the beginning of success will have to come from subscriptions of all those interested in giving our boys and girls a place to swim in safety within the community.

If you would like to see this done the committee in charge of raising the funds asks you to do quickly what you are able to do.

E. C. Ebert, representing the chamber of commerce and Legion was selected as treasurer of the fund.

C. A. C. DANCES

Increasing in Popularity and Will be Continued During the Summer Months.

Dear Reader:—We desire to take just a few moments of your time to talk to you about the C. A. C. dances. Yes these dances are still being given on each Saturday evening on the fine gym floor and will continue to be given during the summer. And what is more to the point they seem to be increasing in popularity with each passing week.

Warm weather holds no terrors to the managers of the dances as electric fans have been installed and the C. A. C. gym is the place to go now on a hot Saturday night to keep cool. Ice cool drinks also add to the attractiveness of the dance on these hot nights.

Last Saturday night saw the peppiest crowd of the entire series of dances to date and the enthusiasm of the dancers seemed to affect the members of the orchestra as they simply outdid themselves during the evening. Say boy, that music surely was good. It was so inspiring and attractive it almost persuaded an old-timer, who never danced to go out on the floor and the dancers simply could not resist it. If you came within hearing distance of its strains they were lost, and in a few moments they would be stepping out on the dance floor.

If you have any doubt about these assertions go to the gym on Saturday night and convince yourself. We are willing to wager that if you go to the gym and have ever cared for dancing you will fall for the wiles of that music and will be on the floor in ten minutes.

* * * * * AMUSEMENTS * * * * *

Few of us there are who fail to respond to a tale of the sea. There is a certain fascination about stories of men that go down to the sea in ships that is bound to get under the skin and hold the interest. This is especially true of motion pictures of this type and in the cast of "Women Who Give," the new Metro picture shown at the Met theater last night, it is forcibly brought out. Here is a film play that is literally packed full of genuine drama, thrills and heart appeal, exceedingly well acted, capably produced, with the famous characters of a well known novel brought to life on the silver sheet.

"Women Who Give" was directed by Reginald Barker from Sarah P. McLean Greene's classic of the New England coast, "Cape Cod Folks." It is a rousing tale and with the wide scope of the motion picture camera has been made into one of the most satisfactory pictures of the present season. Much of the action has been filmed in locations round about Cape Cod, providing genuine atmosphere, with the balance of the settings in perfect keeping with the nature of the story.

This interesting story and well made production also has the distinct advantage of a cast worthy being called all star. Barbara Bedford and Renee Adoree share honors in the leading feminine roles. It may truthfully be said that they have never been seen to better advantage. Robert Frazer is admirably suited to the role of the young sea captain and Frank Keenan adds another to his long list of sterling characterizations. Joseph Dowling, Margaret Seddon, Joan Standing, Victor Potel, Eddie Phillips and William Eugene round out a particularly well chosen cast.

The Word "Jovial"

The word "jovial" conceals the name of Jupiter, or Jove. A "jovial" person is theoretically, at least, a person born under the influence of the planet Jupiter, or Jove.

This planet was supposed to be the most joyful of all the planets to be born under, just as Saturn is the least joyful.

Gradually the word "jovial" became dissociated from the astrological significance and was generally applied to persons who indicated the quality of joyfulness ascribed to birth under a joyful planet.

Thus many a word in the English language, in common use, traces its origin to mystic beginnings and beliefs in the darkness of past ages.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Birds as Prophets

In early days superstitious people paid considerable attention to the birds and their different cries, which were believed to foretell events. Thus comes the old saying: "A little bird told me." Traces of this belief are to be found in our own Old Testament, where verse 20 of chapter 10 of Ecclesiastes speaks of "for a bird of the air shall carry the voice, and that which hath wings shall tell the matter." It is generally agreed that it is from this belief in the universal knowledge of birds, which, of course, are supposed to see everything from the sky—that we get this saying.

ROMANCE OF RIBBON MATTER OF HISTORY

Colorful Adornments Worn in All Ages.

In all your rambles among the ribbon counters, did you ever consider the ancient romance of the "ribbon?" Matching one's mood with ribbon is not a modern pastime. All through romantic history, ribbon, glittering and gleaming, winds its silky way.

Always the token of love, chivalry or power, the "ribbon" of old has appeared now as a love-knot, carried by some knight as his lady's favor; now a rosette for a diminutive slipper; now a single streamer from a seal of a document of state.

When Queen Elizabeth took the throne ribbon first came into its own. Both belles and beaux of the period used it lavishly for their personal adornment. "Men of meaner rank," writes a historian, "wore garters and shoe roses of more than five pounds apiece." As for the ladies, ribbon richly trimmed their headgears and formed sprinklings of rosettes and love-knots on their handsome gowns.

But in the reign of Louis XVI. the favored ribbons amounted to frenzy. Ladies ribboned every garment, every accessory, and gave the ribbons such meaning titles as "attention," "mark of hope," "downcast eye," "sigh of Venus." Gentlemen wore hair ribbons.

The practical Scots, however, found a more useful mission for the ribbon. In Scotland, down until a quite recent date, the "snood" or "ribbon" on the hair of a girl meant that she was unmarried.

The name "ribbon" comes from the fact that, before the first ribbons were used in Europe, probably in the Sixteenth century, they were woven on the bands and borders of garments, and were narrow, like a rib. When they were first manufactured as separate trimmings, they were often of gilt, with threads of gold and silver interwoven. Consequently, they were expensive, and the English parliament passed an act reserving to nobility the right to wear them.

The "blue ribbon" and "red ribbon," which are often given today as marks of excellence, had their origin in England. The blue ribbon then designated that oldest order in England, the Order of the Garter; and the red ribbon stood for the next highest order, the Order of the Bath.

Another ribbon custom which originated in England is that of numbering ribbons. This numbering was governed by the thickness of the English penny, which was almost as large as our silver dollar.

So, you can indulge your ribbon fads and fancies with the assurance that you have historic precedent back of you, next time you make a trip to the ribbon counter.

Londoners Take to Charms

For centuries the hair from an elephant's tail has been worn as a charm by superstitious natives of the East. But only recently has this ancient precaution against the evil eye penetrated to London. New charms made from elephant hair are sold in the form of rings and bracelets. Rings may be obtained from $2.25 upward and bracelets cost about the same price, although those with gold spiral mounts run up to $12.50 or more.

A very popular bracelet has a gold clasp with a portly elephant in white enamel hanging from a circle of hair; another has a strand of gold wire twisted with hair. Signet rings have the hair set in half the hoop at the back. There are also twisted rings and plain ones without the signet.

There is nothing very attractive about elephant hair, but the jewelers have done their best with rather unpromising material and produced a variety of charms for those who wish for good luck.—New York Herald.

Nitrate of Soda

Nitrate of soda, which, as a highly concentrated source of nitrogen, was first recognized in the older countries of Europe, is now becoming an article of world-wide consumption, even such naturally fertile countries as Egypt, the West Indies and the Hawaiian Islands employing fair quantities both in cotton and sugar culture. Fortunately for the rapidly expanding demand for nitrate of soda the enormous supplies now known to exist in the desert regions of Chile are estimated to last at present rate of consumption for the next 300 years. Less than 10 per cent of the territory where nitrate is likely to be found has so far been exploited and the vast areas still to be opened up will, for many years, to come, provide the nourishment for the impoverished soils of the United States and Europe.—Grace Log.

Practical Education

A practice house or model cottage is a part of the general equipment of home economics in all vocational schools of Oregon. Each girl has experience in all the fundamentals of the household—food preparation, house cleaning, laundry and sewing. The food-preparation classes give the actual experience of buying and preparing for a number of persons. The girls are taught the spending value of the dollar, principles of house decoration, child care and home nursing.

This they backed with subscriptions amounting to $280. In the evening a committee representing the American Legion, chamber of commerce and the Rotary club met at the Boggs and outlined plans for securing the rest of the money necessary to secure the pool.

The Business Women's club has offered their services in this. The thousand dollars necessary to insure more than the beginning of success will have to come from subscriptions of all those interested in giving our boys and girls a place to swim in safety within the community.

If you would like to see this done the committee in charge of raising the funds asks you to do quickly what you are able to do.

E. C. Ebert, representing the chamber of commerce and Legion was selected as treasurer of the fund.

C. A. C. DANCES

Increasing in Popularity and Will be Continued During the Summer Months.

Dear Reader:—We desire to take just a few moments of your time to talk to you about the C. A. C. dances. Yes these dances are still being given on each Saturday evening on the fine gym floor and will continue to be given during the summer. And what is more to the point they seem to be increasing in popularity with each passing week.

Warm weather holds no terrors to the managers of the dances as electric fans have been installed and the C. A. C. gym is the place to go now on a hot Saturday night to keep cool. Ice cool drinks also add to the attractiveness of the dance on these hot nights.

Last Saturday night saw the peppiest crowd of the entire series of dances to date and the enthusiasm of the dancers seemed to affect the members of the orchestra as they simply outdid themselves during the evening. Say boy, that music surely was good. It was so inspiring and attractive it almost persuaded an old-timer, who never danced to go out on the floor and the dancers simply could not resist it. If you came within hearing distance of its strains they were lost, and in a few moments they would be stepping out on the dance floor.

If you have any doubt about these assertions go to the gym on Saturday night and convince yourself. We are willing to wager that if you go to the gym and have ever cared for dancing you will fall for the wiles of that music and will be on the floor in ten minutes.

AMUSEMENTS

Few of us there are who fail to respond to a tale of the sea. There is a certain fascination about stories of men that go down to the sea in ships that is bound to get under the skin and hold the interest. This is especially true of motion pictures of this type and in the cast of "Women Who Give," the new Metro picture shown at the Met theater last night, it is forcibly brought out. Here is a film play that is literally packed full of genuine drama, thrills and heart appeal, exceedingly well acted, capably produced, with the famous characters of a well known novel brought to life on the silver sheet.

"Women Who Give" was directed by Reginald Barker from Sarah P. McLean Greene's classic of the New England coast, "Cape Cod Folks." It is a rousing tale and with the wide scope of the motion picture camera has been made into one of the most satisfactory pictures of the present season. Much of the action has been filmed in locations round about Cape Cod, providing genuine atmosphere, with the balance of the settings in perfect keeping with the nature of the story.

This interesting story and well made production also has the distinct advantage of a cast worthy being called all star. Barbara Bedford and Renee Adoree share honors in the leading feminine roles. It may truthfully be said that they have never been seen to better advantage. Robert Frazer is admirably suited to the role of the young sea captain and Frank Keenan adds another to his long list of sterling characterizations. Joseph Dowling, Margaret Seddon, Joan Standing, Victor Potel, Eddie Phillips and William Eugene round out a particularly well chosen cast.

The Word "Jovial"

The word "jovial" conceals the name of Jupiter, or Jove. A "jovial" person is theoretically, at least, a person born under the influence of the planet Jupiter, or Jove.

This planet was supposed to be the most joyful of all the planets to be born under, just as Saturn is the least joyful.

Gradually the word "jovial" became associated from the astrological significance and was generally applied to persons who indicated the quality of joyfulness ascribed to birth under a joyful planet.

Thus many a word in the English language, in common use, traces its origin to mystic beginnings and beliefs in the darkness of past ages.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Birds as Prophets

In early days superstitious people paid considerable attention to the birds and their different cries, which were believed to foretell events. Thus comes the old saying: "A little bird told me." Traces of this belief are to be found in our own Old Testament, where verse 20 of chapter 10 of Ecclesiastes speaks of "for a bird of the air shall carry the voice, and that which hath wings shall tell the matter." It is generally agreed that it is from this belief in the universal knowledge of birds, which, of course, are supposed to see everything from the sky—that we get this saying.

Colorful Adornments Worn in All Ages.

In all your rambles among the ribbon counters, did you ever consider the ancient romance of the "ribband?" Matching one's mood with ribbon is not a modern pastime. All through romantic history, ribbon, glittering and gleaming, winds its silky way.

Always the token of love, chivalry or power, the "ribband" of old has appeared now as a love-knot, carried by some knight as his lady's favor; now a rosette for a diminutive slipper; now a single streamer from a seal of a document of state.

When Queen Elizabeth took the throne ribbon first came into its own. Both belles and beaux of the period used it lavishly for their personal adornment. "Men of meane rank," writes a historian, "weare garters and shoe roses of more than five pounds apiece." As for the ladies, ribbon richly trimmed their headgears and formed sprinklings of rosettes and love-knots on their handsome gowns. But in the reign of Louis XVI, the favored ribbons amounted to frenzy. Ladies beribboned every garment, every accessory, and gave the ribbons such meaning titles as "attention," "mark of hope," "downcast eye," "sigh of Venus." Gentlemen wore hair ribbons.

The practical Scots, however, found a more useful mission for the ribbon. In Scotland, down until a quite recent date, the "snood" or "ribband" on the hair of a girl meant that she was unmarried.

The name "ribband" comes from the fact that, before the first ribbons were used in Europe, probably in the Sixteenth century, they were woven on the bands and borders of garments, and were narrow, like a rib. When they were first manufactured as separate trimmings, they were often of gilt, with threads of gold and silver interwoven. Consequently, they were expensive, and the English parliament passed an act reserving to nobility the right to wear them.

The "blue ribbon" and "red ribbon," which are often given today as marks of excellence, had their origin in England. The blue ribbon then designated that oldest order in England, the Order of the Garter; and the red ribbon stood for the next highest order, the Order of the Bath.

Another ribbon custom which originated in England is that of numbering ribbons. This numbering was governed by the thickness of the English penny, which was almost as large as our silver dollar.

So, you can indulge your ribbon fads and fancies with the assurance that you have historic precedent back of you, next time you make a trip to the ribbon counter.

Londoners Take to Charms

For centuries the hair from an elephant's tail has been worn as a charm by superstitious natives of the East. But only recently has this ancient precaution against the evil eye penetrated to London. New charms made from elephant hair are sold in the form of rings and bracelets. Rings may be obtained from $2.25 upward and bracelets cost about the same price, although those with gold spiral mounts run up to $12.50 or more.

A very popular bracelet has a gold clasp with a portly elephant in white enamel hanging from a circle of hair; another has a strand of gold wire twisted with hair. Signet rings have the hair set in half the hoop at the back. There are also twisted rings and plain ones without the signet.

There is nothing very attractive about elephant hair, but the jewelers have done their best with rather unpromising material and produced a variety of charms for those who wish for good luck.—New York Herald.

Nitrate of Soda

Nitrate of soda, which, as a highly concentrated source of nitrogen, was first recognized in the older countries of Europe, is now becoming an article of world-wide consumption, even such naturally fertile countries as Egypt, the West Indies and the Hawaiian islands employing fair quantities both in cotton and sugar culture. Fortunately for the rapidly expanding demand for nitrate of soda the enormous supplies now known to exist in the desert regions of Chile are estimated to last at present rate of consumption for the next 300 years. Less than 10 per cent of the territory where nitrate is likely to be found has so far been exploited and the vast areas still to be opened up will, for many years, to come, provide the nourishment for the impoverished soils of the United States and Europe.—Grace Log.

Practical Education

A practice house or model cottage is a part of the general equipment of home economics in all vocational schools of Oregon. Each girl has experience in all the fundamentals of the household—food preparation, house cleaning, laundry and sewing. The food-preparation classes give the actual experience of buying and preparing for a number of persons. The girls are taught the spending value of the dollar, principles of house decoration, child care and home nursing.

College rules of 150 years ago required humble submission to the authorities on the part of freshmen. One rule was this: "The freshmen, as well as all other undergraduates, are to be uncovered and are forbidden to wear their hats (unless in stormy weather) in the front dooryard of the president's or professor's house or within 10 rods of the person of the president, eight rods of the professor and five rods of a tutor." Another Yale rule ran: "When a freshman is near a gate or door belonging to a college or college yard, he shall look around and observe whether any of his superiors are coming to the same and if any are coming within three rods, he shall not enter without a signal to proceed."

An Indian Fable.

Fables something like those we know are told all over the world, and here is one which comes from India: There was once a tiger that had grown too old to hunt his prey, so he had to resort to cunning in order to get food. He hid in the jungle and called out to passers-by that he would give them a handsome bracelet for nothing. A covetous man passing asked to see the bracelet, and the tiger put out one of his paws so that the stripes could be seen. Thinking that this was a real bracelet the man hastily went toward the spot where the tiger lay, but soon found himself stuck in a swamp. The tiger called to him to wait a moment till he himself came to his help, and, going into the swamp, the cunning animal soon seized the man and carried him off to the jungle to eat at leisure.

The Woman Who Loves.

As an old student of life, I should say the most beautiful and helpful thing in it is the respect, confidence and love of an agreeable woman. And I beg you men who enjoy this blessing not to throw it away heedlessly. A woman who loves you is entitled to fair treatment; and many devoted women do not get it. A just master longest retains his power. If there is any one entitled to justice, to gentleness and appreciation, from a man, it is the woman who devotedly loves him. —E. W. Howe's Monthly.

English Sugar Beets

Two thousand people in England raised sugar beets on 16,000 acres last year.

Owner of "Pearl" Took Long Chance, but Won

An important connoisseur recently found in Paris, after a great deal of searching, an immense black pearl, a glorious thing with pink and purple lights in its dusky depths. He brought it to this country and took it to a widely known jeweler to have it set. A few days later the head of the firm sent for him.

"Mr. Z," he said, after they were seated in the invariable little office, "I'm afraid I've got something very disagreeable to tell you. I believe your black pearl is an imitation."

"Why," laughed Mr. Z, "That's impossible! I paid $100,000 for it at your own Paris house."

"Nevertheless," said the jeweler, "I do not think it is genuine. And there's just one way to find out—it seems to be such a perfect thing. If you are a very good sport you will let us crack it open. If it is the imitation we believe it to be, we will assume the responsibility for our Paris house and replace it. If it is real—well, you lose."

"Crack away," decided Mr. Z, after a slight pause.

The pearl was imitation.—Katherine Spreehule and Jane Grant in the Saturday Evening Post.

Mount Athos' Famous Monastery Destroyed

The famous monastery of Chilandari, on Mount Athos, built in the Middle Ages, has been destroyed by fire. Mount Athos, the "Holy Mountain," gives its name to the northernmost of those peninsulas which extend like a three-pronged fork from Greece into the Aegean sea. It contains several monasteries and hermitages standing amid magnificent scenery. Access to some of the monasteries overlooking the sea is so difficult that visitors have been drawn up in a sack-shaped contrivance operated by rope. Chilandari monastery is famous for a most valuable MS. of the Gospels in gold letters on white vellum, probably given by the Emperor Andronicus Comnenus about 1184, and a treasure chest containing valuable specimens of Serbian ecclesiastical art. In 1916 Chilandari was raided by Bulgarian monks from the neighboring monastery of Zographon.

Caught a Monkey Stealing

One day in 1910 a well-dressed man, wearing a heavy overcoat, entered a jeweler's shop in London and asked to be shown some valuable rings. Those shown him, he said, were not quite good enough, and he asked to be shown another tray. As the attendant went to get it he glanced in the mirror specially set to show the counter when his back was turned, and, to his amazement, saw a long, hairy arm suddenly come out of the customer's pocket, seize a couple of rings, and vanish.

Assistance was quickly summoned, and the man and monkey arrested. His rooms were found filled with all sorts of valuable objects which had been stolen by this clever monkey.

Elephants at Work

In Burma there are large lumber mills, and elephants are used for rolling the logs into position for the saws, an exchange says. Pushing with their heads, they run the logs up two inclined skids to the platform; two elephants do the pushing and a third elephant acts as boss. In his trunk the boss carries a few links of anchor chain, which he uses as a whip if one elephant falls behind.

When the whistle blows they all know that it is time to stop work and eat. It makes no difference whether they have a log within a fraction of an inch of the platform; the boss drops his anchor chain and gets out of the way, and the pushers step to one side and let the log crash.

Buckskin

Buckskin, from which gloves are made, for the most part comes from Mexico and Brazil. The skins are usually smaller than those of sheep, and seldom perfect, because of the wounds or thorn scratches. The latter do not weaken the gloves, however, and, in fact, a visible scratch is pretty good proof that a glove is genuine buckskin. The leather is dressed in oil and the color is obtained with colored clay dust. Because of this method of coloring, every buckskin glove will dust off or crack the first three or four times it is worn. Buck leather is close fibered, soft after wearing and warm.

Farewell, Old Scout

Roaring Rip—Hi, whoop! At last I'm goin' boys! Bury me deep—if yer find me dead!

Pizen Pete—Whar is Roarin' Rip goin'?

Prairie Rat—Well, yer see, Hurricane Gal has turned down all the boys wot proposed marriage, now Rip is goin' ter take a chance. Fetch out the picks an' shovels, boys. Dig the grave deep. Poor ol' Rip.

Tragic

Little George came to his mother apparently in great distress of mind. "Why, what is the matter, sonny boy?" she sympathetically inquired.

"Well, mother, I'm in an awful fix. I can't decide whether to marry Mary or Ethel when I grow up. You see, Mary is awful pretty, but (there was a long meditative pause) Ethel has a white rat!"

The AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy for this Department supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

GEORGIA PROUD OF COMMANDER DUNLAP

In Gainesville, Ga., they have a lawyer named Edgar B. Dunlap. The folks there think a lot of Ed and maybe that was why the American Legion, Department of Georgia, elected him state commander.

Not long ago Ed was seen squeezing the MacNider trophy awarded annually to the department making the best membership showing. Georgia had won the cup for a steady, persistent increase in members.

Commander Dunlap was born in Gainesville, April 19, 1892. He grew up into a six-foot sturdy man who at college could outwalk most men of his age. He tells stories sometimes of his many hikes. Once he walked 14 miles at night and appeared in Atlanta for the football game between the University of Georgia eleven and a visiting college team.

After taking his degree in 1913 Ed decided he wanted to be a lawyer. So he continued his studies and was admitted to the bar in 1915. During the two years he was studying torts and evidence he was professor of Latin in the Gainesville high school and tutor in public speaking at the University of Georgia.

Then he went back to Gainesville to practice law. This he continued until the United States entered the Edgar B. Dunlap.

World war. Meantime he had served as civilian aide to the secretary of war for the state of Georgia and was for a time United States commissioner for the northern district of Georgia.

On May 11, 1917, a little more than a month after the United States declared war on Germany, he entered the First Officers' Training camp at Fort Macpherson and the following August he was commissioned a captain. Transferred to Camp Gordon he drilled colored troops until May, 1918, when he sailed overseas. He saw active fighting in the Toul sector, Marbache sector, St. Mihiel offensive and in the bloody Argonne. He was discharged on June 4, 1919, and returned to Gainesville to resume his practice.

But Ed, being a man with vision, saw the possibilities of service in the American Legion and not long after he had shed his uniform he organized the Paul E. Bolding post at Gainesville and was elected its first commander.

Since then he has been actively connected with the Legion. He was successively delegate to the first national convention in Minneapolis in 1919 and served on the Legion's constitutional committee. In 1919, 1920 and in 1922 he served his department as executive committeeman and in 1923 was elected state commander.

National headquarters of the Legion recognized his undoubted ability and he was appointed on the national finance committee. When the adjusted compensation battle was at its height he also served as a member of the augmented legislative committee.

Commander Dunlap is married and has two children, Minnie, born in 1916 and James, born in 1919.

To Help Attract Tourists

Organization of the Tacoma, Wash., tourist bureau, by means of which it is hoped to attract many visitors to that city was proposed by the American Legion. Certain members of the veterans' organization, impressed by the possibilities of such a bureau, took the matter up with the local chamber of commerce, and on formation of the bureau, the post was the first to accept membership.

Legion Men Alert

When a bank in Hayward, Wyo., recently closed its doors, the entire post fund of the American Legion was involved, even money due state and national headquarters of the Legion. This did not daunt the Legion men, however, as they immediately formulated plans for a come-back, which included home-talent plays, showing of Legion films and other money-making activities.

Civilization in Korea.

History for many years B. C. tells us that the people of Korea were among the highest in genuine civilization. About the year 1597 a general by the name of Li built the first iron fleet, composed of wooden circular vessels with iron plates on top, studded with iron teeth. Because of the prosperity of the Korean nation, Japan was extremely jealous, and had therefore brought 700 boats in battle array. However, Li, with his 50 boats, succeeded in inflicting a disastrous defeat upon the Japanese.
